Remember: Quantity is more important than quality. Write as much as possible. Practice every day!

2.1. Watch the video “What is archaeology: understanding the archaeological record.”

a) How do archaeologists find sites? Specify the strategies and tools that allow them to locate buried remains.

b) An archaeological excavation is a destructive process that can only be carried out once, thus requiring a methodical approach. List the necessary equipment and outline the steps to be followed when digging a site.

c) The video alludes to “Hollywood versions of archaeology” (55). What characterizes them? Give examples.

d) List and briefly describe the most important methodologies adopted by archaeologists for dating sites.

e) What is a World Heritage Site? Which criteria does UNESCO apply to select a site?

f) Discuss the effects of tourism on archaeological sites.

2.2. Find information on how to write an archaeological report.

2.3. Suppose there is a course in conservation and restoration that you are interested in. Write a formal letter to the instructor requesting information. Follow the basic structure explained by Dustin Wax and use expressions from the table in “Writing business letters in English.”

2.4. Watch the video “The dos and don’ts of e-mail etiquette.”

a) Outline the suggestions given there.

b) What is the difference between the English honorifics Ms, Miss, and Mrs?

c) Explore Snopes.com, and reproduce here an urban legend that strikes you.

2.5. The article “Eighteen etiquette tips for e-mailing your professor” applies e-mail etiquette to the academic world. Check different online lists of “things you should never say to your professor” and mention some of those you have heard, read, or perhaps even said yourself. Comment on them.

2.6. By the end of this week, your glossary should be enlarged in 35-50 words. (It should contain 70-100 words.)
